This photo shows fabric. Norwegian heart Christmas ornaments. One of my sewing groups tasked us to a small make as a gift exchange the next time we meet in real life. I made these ornaments in paper when I worked in Oslo many years ago so when I saw the instructions for them in fabric I just had to give them a try.

This quilt is a legacy quilt that I have been asked to finish by the family. It is double bed size and was made over 60 years from dress making and good curtain lining twills. We used a Hobbs wool wadding and they wanted to keep the hexagon shapes along the edges. So I have the challenge of doing a self edging, it looks good.

Hand printed and overdyed papers stitched onto felt wadding, and mounted into an A3 frame using silhouette design process. Numbers stencil in the hoodie to reflect computer science and clocks in his joggers to show the wait for an end to lockdown. Covid 19 Virus stencil image on the bin! Techniques taught by Hilary Beattie from Hilary B: Original Art and Design.

My daughter-in-law asked me to make something padded for my baby granddaughter to sit on outside and I found a tutorial on YouTube for puff patchwork. How did we manage without YouTube. Her dad is a balloon pilot so I backed it with some balloon fabric
